Dear Sir/Madam

I write this reference at the request of Chao Wang, whom I have known for a period of 3 years. Chao and I were colleagues in StewArt Media. Although he left this company last year, we often hang out together during weekends and holidays.

During this time, I have found Chao to be an honest and trustworthy person. He usually took care of my dog when I'm away from Melbourne, and helped me pick up my parents from the airport when they visited me.

I was shocked when I heard that he has been in charged of a drink-driving offence as it is so distant from the Chao I know. As I know, he was so depressed after he had been fired by StewArt Media that he drank for a few days afterwards. Maybe this leaded to his drink-driving offence. But deep in his heart, I believe he didn't mean to break the law and I believe he is of a fine character. He felt so bad and regretful on the phone calls with me after this happened.

Chao still has not a new job at the moment, and is struggling a bit for his rents and bills. Should he lose his license, Chao will be hard to look for another new job, which will be definitely a worse news for him.

Yours sincerely,

Yang Li
